Kitchen for detached house in Majdy, Poland

Open room concept meets sustainable colour worlds.

The owners had a clear vision of open-plan and natural living when they built their new home surrounded by Majdy's glorious nature. Large window fronts bring a lot of light into the rooms and create the perfect transition from the interior to the exterior.

The interior spaces should reflect the natural surroundings, whilst, at the same time, looking modern and spacious. The Pluciennik kitchen studio fully catered to the wishes of the new residents and utilised warm ash wood elements, which purposefully contrast with the matt, clear surfaces of the RAUVISIO brilliant acrylic laminate in the colour shade graphite. A worktop made of real granite and black built-in appliances perfectly match the colour and design concept.

The result is a beautiful, functional and customised kitchen space where the family and their guests will feel incredibly comfortable.
