Project Profile

Canadian Cabinet Maker Doubles Up On REHAU Elegance

Beautiful works of art deserve a frame, and the way Binder Sahota sees it, his cabinets are works of art. Sahota is vice president of Sky Kitchen Cabinets, a custom kitchen cabinet maker in Mississauga, Ontario.

When a homeowner in nearby Brampton was remodeling a kitchen and wanted unique, modern and durable cabinets, Sahota knew RAUVISIO crystal Bianco fit the bill. This surface provides the sleek shine of glass in a lighter-weight, durable polymer.

But Sahota didn't stop there. He doubled up on RAUVISIO's elegance by framing the sleek white cabinet doors with RAUVISIO terra Whiskey Oak, a soft, textured woodgrain HPL surface. Sahota added matching seamless edgebands using the high-end REHAU LaserEdge technique.

Because his shop invested in the hot-air machine technology that makes it possible, Sahota is able to create his own zero-joint, adhesive-free cabinet doors with LaserEdge banding. He can produce cut-to-size cabinet doors with the flawless finish of LaserEdge on site.

RAUVISIO provides the high-end look that Sahota says many of his clients are after. "Whiskey Oak has a very smooth, leathery texture, with a great finish. It just looks very elegant, the way it stands out. The same with the crystal. It has a unique finish compared to cheaper high-gloss brands."

In his Mississauga showroom, Sahota showcases RAUVISIO with similar framing technique on cabinets and also displays its versatility by using RAUVISIO crystal for the surface of a kitchen island. "It's a great product, which is why I offer it," he says.
