The Mercure Hotel Vienna Centre is a popular address for exploring the city, because it's located directly in the historic city centre of Vienna. St. Stephen's Cathedral, Opera, Hofburg, Museums Quartier and exclusive shopping miles are within a walking distance. The interior design office XIAWORKS in Stuttgart designed the conversion of the 74 guest rooms.

It is the Mercure philosophy to furnish each house with its unique character. Every guest should feel the local background. And even within a city, a separate concept for the various Mercure hotels is developed once again. Those are individual and tell its own stories. In the City Hotel Vienna Centre, everything revolves around the „confectionery“: pictures with cakes, recipes from Sacher, carpets with sugar florets, room numbers that refer to pieces of cake and also the colour concept of the guest rooms with sugar colours in pastel, combined with noble gold tones, fits into the overall concept.

However, there is hardly a patent recipe for renovations during remodelling. No lack of surprises. Therefore flexibility was also a key factor for the interior designer in her search for practicable solutions during the construction phase.

The high-quality surface materials from the glass laminate RAUVISIO crystal (Colour Sabbia) were primarily used in bathroom renovations. Without construction noise, without chiselling work, but with an enormous time advantage over tiled walls, the panelling of the 74 bathrooms shines in new splendour. Thanks to the joint-free installation, the bathroom now looks elegant, but also largely avoids dirt joints in which germs can settle down. A genuine advantage in the hotel environment. Metallically shining golden edgebands set accents on sideboards and shelves and underline the „confectioner's style“ in the interior.
